We are pleased that three of the nation's leading state dealer associations are here to explain how membership in your own state dealer association is an important step in your future success. These associations provide the training you need to comply with the rules and regulations in your state. They also protect your dealership when legal and regulatory issues arise. Shaun Peterson, NIADA general counsel, will explain how NIADA provides legal and regulatory support. Terry O'Loughlin of Reynolds and Reynolds (formerly in the Florida AG's office) will explain how to avoid state regulatory issues. Steve Jordan, NIADA Director, and Ken Shilson will moderate and make sure your questions get answered!
